“It is the State Government’s policy to preserve and promote the culture and art of all ethnic groups continuously; in order to ensure that our cultural heritage will not vanish in the cause of globalisation. Cultural heritage must be maintained and practised to keep it relevant in our daily life.”

Y.A.B Tan Sri Datuk Seri Panglima Musa Haji Aman
Chief Minister Of Sabah,
Speech in conjunction of Inauguration of Kalimaran Festival 2008

Sabah, Land Below the Wind, wealthy in terms of ethnic traditions and culture.

Two major reference tools, two volumes of digital video presentations “Murut@Sabah” and a book “QSearch@Murut”.

The reference tools contain information such as dance, music, clothing, food, home, marriage, traditional customs, beliefs and taboo.

These documents were produced in collaboration with various parties from the ethnic Murut of Keningau, Tenom and Nabawan districts, Sabah, Malaysia. Informants cooperated with great eagerness and awareness to assist and promote the tradition and culture of the Murut ethnic group which is increasingly in great danger of extinction.
